Holiday Tour

A LIVE, VIRTUAL TOUR TO LJUBLJANA, SLOVENIA

Famous Foods

ZLIKROFI

Zlikrofi are small boiled dumplings that originated in Idrija, Slovenia that look and taste similar to Italian ravioli. They are typically filled with potato. Over 110,000 pounds of them are produced and consumed each year.

CARNIOLAN SAUSAGE

Carniolan sausage has forever been a staple of the Slovenian diet. What's in a Carniolan sausage? Just pork and a little bacon. It's usually served with sour cabbage, mustard and crusty bread, and is sometimes used in stews.

POTICA (SLOVENIAN NUT ROLL)

Potica is a yeast-raised dough typically with a filling and rolled like a roll cake. The traditional flavor for potica is orehova or walnut. Walnut potica offers a rich, soft dough, but it's not too sweet to the palate. It's luxurious to eat, and you can find it almost everywhere.

Famous Drinks

WINE

Slovenia has more than 28,000 wineries. They have been making wine since before 600 B.C. Only about 25% of their wine is exported. Most of the wine produced is considered Premium. Slovenia has three wine-growing regions.

SCHNAPPS (ZGANJE)

Schnapps is the national beverage in Slovenia. Making schnapps at home is a widespread past time. It comes in many flavors, including pear, peach, lemon and blueberry.

MILK

In Ljubljana, they have a Milk Machine, "Mleklomat". This machine is usually located in the market and dispenses raw milk (unpasteurized, non-homogenized, antibiotic-free milk). The machine can repel unwanted debris and bugs, self-disinfect after every use, and dispose of milk that has been left for more than 24 hours.

Ljubljana

THE CITY

The Slovenian capital of Ljubljana echoes so many other European cities, with beautiful medieval streets, grand townhouses, remarkable Italianate churches and some of the finest art nouveau. Ljubljana is a deeply cultural city where history is revered. It is a city with "love" in its name. This is a place where you can find signs of love and passion in people's everyday lives.

THE TOUR

Advent time in Ljubljana is magical. There will be dazzling Christmas lights adorning many of the city streets, making for breathtaking views. This year's theme is "Long Live!", and the decoration will be focusing on life, its vulnerability, and at the same time, endurance. We will visit the Christmas Market, boasting a wide array of arts and crafts, baked goods including the holiday sweet bread, Potica, and traditional gifts. We will stroll the city streets all lit up for the holidays and learn about the traditions in this special place. Let's experience our beautiful, united world!
